

Provost's Message

The research community at GMU has responded in large numbers to participate at the Annual Scientific Meeting being held this year on the fourteenth anniversary of GMU.

70 faculty members and 16 students are presenting a total of 86 papers, 43 oral and 43 poster presentations. These will be presented in 6 oral sessions and 5 poster sessions over the two days.

The research presentations include case reports and original research in Clinical Medicine, observational studies in Dental and Physiotherapy Practice, Pharmaceuticals and Therapeutics, and qualitative and quantitative research in Health Professions education representing participation of both faculties and students from all the 5 colleges.

This year the Research Division is launching the Gulf Medical Journal, a publication of the Gulf Medical University, as an online journal that will provide an additional platform to publish your peer reviewed-work that will reach out to a wider audience across UAE and beyond.

I hope you are as excited as I am to attend the meeting, participate in the discussions and benefit immensely from the new knowledge being presented by our students, fellow scientists and physicians.
